MONDAY EVENING, OCT. 15, 1893.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Sun rises to-morrow at 6:32; sun sets 5:28. High water 12:32 a. m. and 12:57 p. m.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this section fair; heavy frost to-night; variable winds.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S STORM.—Work of repairing the damages occasioned by Friday night's storm is being prosecuted as rapidly as possible. The wharves of the ferry company at Washington and this city have been repaired and both boats are now running as usual. The damage to the railroad transfer slips at this place and Shepherd's, however, have not as yet been repaired, and no transfers have been made since Friday. The wharf at the fertilizer factory, a short distance above Shepherd's, was carried away by the storm. At Fox's ferry, on the opposite Maryland shore, the high tide and strong wind gave a coup de grace to what remained of the old ferry, which was destroyed. The water rose above every thing who happened to be there. Friday evening, found it impossible to cross the river. The tide rose so high eventually that Mr. Burrage was compelled to swim to a tree, in the branches of which he passed the night. On the lower river the destruction of property has been greater than ever before by storms. The officers of steamers plying on the lower river report that the warehouse and wharf at Piney Point has been swept away and the greater portion of the roof of the large hotel is gone. The wharf at Mount Airy, in Currituck county, is wrecked, both wharves and warehouses at Colonial Beach and Classic Shore are demolished and the wharves at Smith's Point (Clifton Beach) and at Liverpool Point are wrecked. No damage to wharves in Nomini Creek or Rappahannock is reported, but numerous dwellings in and near Leonardtown were injured. At Chapel Point the wharf was made a total wreck and the bath houses were entirely destroyed. The water rose to the depth of three feet in the steam mill, which stands more than thirty feet from the usual high water mark, and the boiler and engine will have to be dug from the mud and debris that cover them. On the opposite side of Port Tobacco Creek from Chapel Point, the Brentland wharf was carried away and other damage done to boats, etc. Captain T. L. Twiford, engaged in the lumber business at the warehouse, one mile below the village, is also a heavy loser by the storm, he having over ten thousand shingles and a large lot of lumber carried away by the wind and tide. A corn-house and stable on the farm of Dr. Cataldus H. Posey, near the village, were blown down. The wharf at Cedar Point was carried away, and the store-house and contents were greatly injured by the water that made up into the building. At Rock Point, at the mouth of Wisconsin river, it is reported that much greater damage was done than at any point in the county. Between here and Occoquan many Alexandrians sustained losses. The oyster store owned by Capt. Charles McKenney, loaded with oysters, was washed ashore at Powell's Creek and lies lodged against the trees. Edward Lynn's nets are a total loss. The boats and fishing outfit, including the house at Plum-tree Gut owned by Mr. Frank Price, are washed several hundred yards inland. The boats, seines, and other property at Deep Hole were washed a mile from the river, and are deposited in Mr. William Metzgar's corn-field. Citizens of Occoquan also lose heavily in cord-wood, ties, &c., the lay being strewn with floating timber. The sloop Belvidere, owned by Capt. Johnson, was washed ashore and into the woods near Holland Point. The wharves at Gunston and Collinswood Beach are both destroyed.

FREE METHODIST CONFERENCE.—The last sitting of the Free Methodist Conference was held Saturday afternoon, beginning at 3:30 o'clock. On motion roll call was dispensed with. Reports of committees on education, on publication, on the state of the work, on conference claimant funds and on account of several other interests were adopted. A committee to take steps toward the incorporation of the conference was ordered. It was decided that the next session of conference shall be held in Brooklyn, N. Y., as near the second Wednesday of September, 1894, as may be consistent with the plans of the superintendents. A vote of thanks was tendered to the people of Alexandria and to Rev. Mr. Luning for their kindness and hospitality shown in the entertainment of the members of and visitors to this conference; a vote of thanks was also tendered to Mr. Lewis McKenzie and the other members of the board of trustees of the First Presbyterian Church for kindly loaned the conference for its sittings. A vote of like character was tendered to the superintendent, W. T. Hogg, for the efficient manner in which he has presided over the deliberations of the conference body. After the minutes were read and approved, the superintendent, as chairman of the stationing committee, read the appointments, which were as follows:

Harrie Dade, colored, arrested by Officers Bettis and Jones charged with setting a dog on some colored children, was fined $5.

NIGHT REPORT.—Last night was cloudy and cool. Three prisoners and twelve lodgers were at the station house.

DEATH OF MR. ELDRIDGE.—Mr. Edward Everett Eldridge, one of the best known of our young business men, died at his home on south Washington street shortly after 12 o'clock Saturday night. The deceased had been suffering recently from what was supposed to have been malarial fever, and last week, while in a weakened and exhausted condition, but presumably in a convalescent state, he resumed his duties, causing a relapse. On Thursday evening, after being at his office all day, he returned home and grew rapidly worse. He languished until 12:30 o'clock Saturday night when he expired, surrounded by his family and some relatives and friends. Mr. Eldridge was 31 years old, an age when life is generally at its zenith. He was of a quiet and methodical nature—one whose time was equally absorbed by his calling and domestic duties—and all who knew him naturally esteemed him as an upright and useful citizen, whose loss would be felt in any community. He was a son of Capt. Manchester Eldridge, who in the olden time was one of the prominent citizens of the city. At the age of fourteen he entered the counting room with his uncle, Mr. F. A. Reed, in which calling he had worked faithfully ever since, early and late. Mr. Eldridge leaves a widow and two small children to whom with the others near and dear the sympathy of the entire community is extended. He was a member of Alexandria Council Royal Arcanum, and for a long time was a communicant of the Second Presbyterian Church.

YESTERDAY.—The weather yesterday was decidedly cool, and overcast and winter wraps proved seasonable. The city lacked the usual Sunday animation, and there was a perceptible falling off in the number of Sunday visitors. The churches had good congregations at all the services. The services held by the members of the Free Methodist Conference in the First Presbyterian, M. E. Church South, and at Trinity Churches were well attended. At the M. E. Church South Rev. J. W. Tamblin, of Windsor, N. Y., preached at 11 a. m. At night Rev. D. J. Santimer preached and was followed by his wife in a most effective exhortation to the unconverted of the congregation. The sermons of both these ministers of the Free Methodist Church were very practical, earnest and deeply impressive. The pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. Carson, announced a continued service. Mr. Santimer is expected to preach to-night. The public is invited to these revival meetings. The pastor made a brief statement of the sufferings of the yellow fever stricken city, Brunswick, Ga., and asked help. A forty dollar collection was found in the basket and went on its way to Brunswick to-day.

CATHOLIC FAIR.—The fair at the Y. M. S. L., was largely attended Saturday night. The many candidates for the different articles were in attendance and hard at work obtaining votes. The impressiveness of the flower booth strikes one upon entering the hall and the beauty and diligence of the ladies in charge forces one to acknowledge that this will be the most prosperous of all the booths. The vote for the different articles stands as follows:

Diamond ring—Misses M. Posey, 7; M. McFarland, 6.
Altar boys' watch—Linden Wheatley, 10; Jas. McGowan, 9; Geo. Dowey, 3; B. Petty, 6.
Ladies gold watch—Misses A. Dyer, 7; S. Murtough, 3; M. Travers, 1.
Druggist's pin—Messrs. C. Lennon, 8; Chas. Summers, 1; Wm. T. Smith, 7; Ed. Warfield, 2; W. Hudson, 1; A. Diehl, 5; Geo. Fisher, 15.
Silver punch bowl—Messrs. Geo. Apple, 5; Jacob Brill, 10; E. Rammel, 5; H. Fleischmann, 3; Carl Bohraus, 4; E. Hughes, 3; Ed. Quinn, 5.

STILL UNSETTLED.—The political situation in this city still remains unchanged, though a number of earnest democrats, for the good of the party, are still trying to bring about a settlement. As will be seen by a card elsewhere, Mr. Bendheim has declined to accept to Mr. Caton's proposition submitted on Saturday. Mr. Caton has been in Baltimore all day and it is known what his next step will be. Mr. Bendheim still claims that he was regularly nominated for the Legislature by the convention which met last week, but is willing to submit the question for settlement to the State committee. Mr. Caton insists that the convention last week was properly adjourned without making a nomination, and expects to re-assemble on Friday; and so the matter stands. The democratic voters, however, are getting tired of the non-acceptance of the candidates and threaten to take matters in their own hands.

AN OVERWORKED CASHIER.—The cashier in the office of the collector of taxes for the District of Columbia, Mr. John W. Daniel, was recently obliged to pay from his own pocket $320 to make good a discrepancy in his accounts. Senator Harris introduced a bill on Saturday to refund the amount to him. This action is recommended by Commissioner Ross, who writes that during his term of office Mr. Daniel has received over $14,500,000 of District funds and is a most hard-working official. Often he has taken in $100,000 in small amounts in a day. This discrepancy the collector considers natural under the circumstances, and one which any private firm would honor in the cashier's favor. Mr. Daniel is well-known in this city where he once resided, and where his strict honesty and integrity can be vouched for.

PERSONAL.—City Treasurer Lunt continues to improve and yesterday was able to walk about his room.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Kirk, jr., have returned from Chicago.

Rev. T. H. Rice and Mr. K. Kemper left here to-day for Lexington to attend the session of the Presbyterian Synod.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Kaus will to-night celebrate their silver wedding.

Messrs. Collin O'Meara and Richard Allen have returned from a pleasant visit to Upperville, Va.

TREASURER LUNT RESIGNS.—Mr. J. D. H. Lunt, who on the 1st of September last was appointed City Treasurer by Judge Norton to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. M. B. Harlow, to-day tendered his resignation, sending a copy of the following letter to Judge Norton and to Mayor Strauss:

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Oct. 16, 1893.
Hon. J. K. Norton:
My Dear Sir: I hereby tender my resignation as Treasurer of the city of Alexandria. I do this by the advice of my physician, with careful thought and with sincere regret. Very truly yours, JOHN D. H. LUNT.
Mr. Lunt has been ill for the past few weeks, and his many friends will regret that his continued bad health compels him to resign the office to which he was so recently appointed. Judge Norton will act in the matter as soon as possible.

CORPORATION COURT.—Judge J. K. Norton presiding.—Com. vs. Jos. Holland, colored, indicted for maliciously cutting Barley Banks, also colored; jury and verdict of unlawful cutting and penalty fixed at one year in the penitentiary.
Com. vs. Lucy Rector and George Washington, both colored, indicted for petty larceny; jury and verdict of not guilty as to Geo. Washington, but guilty as to Lucy Rector, whose punishment was fixed at three months in jail.
